

Dear Parents,

A new school year is underway, and we are off to a great start. I look forward to working together with you in order to meet your child's educational needs.

Goals: Two main goals for this year I have in mind. 1) To live our Christian values. 2) To increase opportunities for student success.

Homework: Homework is given on a daily basis, although not necessarily in every class. I request that you review your child's agenda with him/her each evening, and log on to the parents' RenWeb page weekly for more details. This strategy will prevent your child from getting behind and it will also demonstrate that parents and teachers collaborate as a team to help the child reach his/her potential.

Helpful Hints: In addition to monitoring your child's homework each evening, there are other ways you can assist your child in making this a successful year. Help your child to see himself/herself as successful as possible and provide a supportive atmosphere. Offer a quiet place for study and a daily reflection. Assist your child in organizing his/her belongings so homework and other necessary materials reach school in good order.

I will be teaching the sixth grade pilot program for the first semester (Theology, Math, Language Arts, Science, Social Studies). The second semester I will teach sixth grade Theology and Math, seventh grade Theology, eighth grade Theology, and Desktop Publishing as an elective for the high school.

*Information about regular assignments and activities are posted on the parents' RenWeb website, and the information will be updated weekly on Mondays. My contact email is: yleon@lcsnogales.org

Visits to the School: All visitors must check in at the office. We ask parents to never disturb classes to see their children or a teacher. Parent's cooperation is deeply appreciated.

Have a blessed and exceptional school year!

Regards,
