Form 990, Part VI, Section A, line 10		Audit firm uses specialized proprietary 990 tax form software to process the information provided by the college. This results in checks for addition and balancing of supporting schedules to more summarized amounts. The audit firm prepares a draft of the form 990 based on information provided to them and their knowledge of how to complete the 990. After receiving the draft form 990 from the audit firm, personnel from the business office review the draft, reconciling information back to supporting work papers where possible and reviewing other information for completeness, accuracy, consistency, and reasonableness. Next, the President's cabinet and the board's audit committee members review the draft of the form 990 for completeness, accuracy, consistency, and reasonableness. Feedback from all reviews is forwarded to the audit firm and the form 990 is updated accordingly. A copy of the form 990 (with donor names removed) is posted on the secure confidential board of regents' website, and an email is sent to all board members notifying them that the 990 is available for review. Feedback provided from the board members is reviewed and discussed with individual board members as necessary and appropriate. All feedback that requires a significant change to the form 990 is provided in a summary fashion to all board members, to allow additional feedback or comments. The final approved feedback is given to the audit firm to incorporate in the final form 990. The board receives the final form 990 prior to it being filed.
